Retaliation for Part in Clean-up Regarded as Motive

FIFTY JAILED AND FINED

One of Prisoners Takes an Appeal From Sentence of Slick Justice

Special to The World

SLICK, Aug. 12.—Seeking revenge because the police, headed by Chief of Police Joe Hagen, cleaned up the joints here and forced all to go to jail or advance bond for violations of the peace, one or more of the prisoners set fire to the home of Policeman C. H. Kaylor, who assisted his chief in the raid.

More than fifty were arrested last Saturday and Sunday. The fire at the Kaylor home occurred Tuesday morning. The building was totally destroyed and Officer Kaylor estimates his loss at $3,000. He was preparing to move into the building. Two other buildings were set afire, but neither owner had anything to do with the raid.

Chief Hagen declared that the raids would continue as the citizens of Slick were weary of the nuisance.

The fines of the 50 ranged from $12 to $25 when arraigned before Justice Hutton. The charges were vagrancy, loitering around a disorderly house, running a disorderly house and common drunk.

J. M. Newman was fined $15 for carrying a pistol. Cora Hatfield was fined $12 for disturbing the peace. The Oklahoma pool hall was raided and a small amount of corn whiskey found, according to the records. The place at the present time is under an injunction. O. F. Goldsmith is reported to be owner of the place. Officers say charges will be filed against Goldsmith for violating the injunction.

On raids in the negro district choo-choo was found in four places and destroyed. A small amount of corn whiskey was found at a house a mile south of town and a quart of corn whiskey at a house in the east part of town.

Jack Powell, arrested and charged with vagrancy stood trial before a jury in Judge Hutton's court. The trial was attended by a large crowd of interested spectators, and proved to be one of the hardest-fought legal battles ever staged in a justice court in this city. Powell was represented by Attorney John H. Miller and C. B. Lake, city attorney, prosecuted the case. The trial started at 7 p. m. and was not given to the jury until nearly midnight. The jury was out but a few minutes and returned a verdict of guilty. A fine of $26, including the costs, was assessed. The case was appealed to the county court which convenes this fall.

OIL MACHINIST SERIOUSLY HURT

Tulsa Youth Hit by a Frisco Train at the Bristow Yards

Special to The World

BRISTOW, Aug. 12.—G. E. Fuller, machinist at the Sinclair pump station, southeast of here, in 4-13-9, was seriously injured yesterday when his clothes became caught in a line shaft at the station and his body carried around with the machinery cutting and tearing his flesh.

He was brought to the Bristow general hospital and rushed to the operating room where Doctors Blabe and Snodgrass attended his injuries. His injuries are of such a serious nature that grave doubts are held out for his recovery.

Three fractured ribs and a slight concussion of the brain were suffered by Reuben Nimms, 16, when he was struck by Frisco train No. 2 a short distance east of Main street crossing. Nimms is said to have been walking along the side of the railroad track and for some unexplained reason evidently failed to see or hear the approaching train. He was struck by the cylinder of the engine. It is said, and knocked down. The boy was taken to the office of Dr. E. F. King for treatment of his injuries.

His parents live in Tulsa and they came here to take him home this evening. The train after it struck the boy was stopped and a physician was called immediately.

Bartlesville Determined to Have Commodious Convention Hall.

Special to The World

BARTLESVILLE, Aug. 12.—The new plans for the Bartlesville convention hall have been received and the mayor and city commissioners state that bids for the construction of the building will be advertised for at once and construction of the building started within the next 30 days. The construction of the building was temporarily delayed when it was discovered that the plans had been changed and as a result Mayor McCaleb and City Commissioner Ralph Cox were arrested and both resigned their office. The state bank failure also caused a further delay as a large sum of the convention hall fund was on deposit in that institution. The city officials stated that the auditorium would be completed now and if there was sufficient funds available the wings on the building would be constructed and that bids on the whole would be made separately so that in case there was not sufficient money to erect the whole building it was intended to at least complete the main auditorium at once.

STATE TO DEFEND SHERIFF SANDERS

Robertson Determined to Back Up Officer Who Defied U. S.

Special to The World

MALESTER, Aug. 12.—The state legal machinery will be called into action for defense of Sheriff William R. Sanders of Pittsburg county, according to Sanders, who received assurances to that effect in a phone conversation with Gov. J. B. A. Robertson Wednesday.

Sanders was authorized to secure an attorney here who will be appointed by the governor to act in conjunction with Atty.-Gen. George F. Short in the defense of Sanders.

He is under $5,000 bond to the federal court at Muskogee, charged with contempt of court. The trouble which led to Sanders' arrest arose when 21 railway shop guards at Halleyville, appointed by Sanders, clashed with 14 federal officers under Deputy Marshal Crockett Lee. Lee and Sanders were opponents in the race for republican nomination for sheriff of Pittsburg county. The latter received the nomination for re-election. Sheriff Sanders' tenure of office seems doomed to be beset with trials and tribulations. Only a few months ago Sanders was tried for malfeasance in office and acquitted of the charges. The leading witnesses for the prosecution were prominent party men of Sanders' own party. It is thought that the suits brought against Sanders will have a tendency toward his re-election.
